

Commerce & Industries Department tableau

For the first time in the history of West Bengal, Kolkata witnessed a full-fledged Independence Day Celebration parade along with colourful tableaux on Indira Gandhi Sarani (Red Road), Kolkata. The Commerce & Industries Department, Government of West Bengal presented a colorful tableau. West Bengal Industrial Development Corporation Limited on behalf of Commerce & Industries Department organized and co-ordinated the design, fabrication and display of the Industry tableau.

The Commerce & Industry tableau showcased a glimpse of the industrial scenario of West Bengal. The entire tableau was projected over a ship riding on waves indicating the industrial resurgence in the industry sector including Information Technology in the State.

The ship riding the waves symbolized the intention of the new government in putting its best efforts for industrial rejuvenation. While the eye catching model of an industry depicted organized efforts to put West Bengal on the fast track of industrial activity, the colourful Zari workers symbolised the potentials of activities of an otherwise unorganized sector. The tableau also depicted the Iron and Steel and the Automobile sectors and the milestones achieved in mining activities.
